My friend Miranda and I like to make resolutions when the New Year comes. But we always failed to achieve them. This year, we really wanted to make it, so we decided to be "resolution friends", hoping to 41 resolutions next year.

We made a 42 of things each of us would do every single day.

The next morning, when I entered the kitchen at 5 : 45 am, my dad was so 43 to see me, "Wow! Who are you? Where is my sleep-loving daughter?"

I handed him the list. "Have a look! The greatest New Year's resolutions in the world!" I said 44.

"A lot to do every day," he 45 the list and said, "Don't you think it was too much?"

"Not at all. I have already done the first resolution," I said, showing off my cool hair. "Now I'm baking cookies before school for the 46 resolution."

When I arrived at school, Miranda offered her cookies to me and I 47 mine with her. That morning, we had a difficult math test, which made us extra hungry for 48. We each had a sandwich with an egg, cabbage and onion in it.

One of our friends asked, "Do your sandwiches actually 49 good?"

Miranda smiled, "The third resolution says our lunch has to be healthy, not necessarily delicious. Anyway, we've done Task 3. And if we want to finish Tasks 4 and 5 50 the bell rings, we'd better hurry."

Luckily, we managed to read our chapters and do the exercise. However, lots of homework made us have no time to do things for the sixth resolution.

We wanted more time to finish 51 on our list. Therefore, we got up half an hour earlier on Tuesday. Even if with the extra time, we could 52 achieve all the goals on the list in one day. On Wednesday, we got up another half an hour earlier. . .

By Friday, we were too tired. When we got to school, we saw each other and couldn't help 53. We looked so funny.

Roger Federer, a world-famous sports star, quit (放弃) the 2020 Olympic Games to deal with his knee problem.

It was a hard decision because no one wanted to be a quitter. But finding the courage to let go can be good for you.

★ Maybe your heart isn't in playing the piano any more, or you only play football because your friends do and you want to try a different sport instead. Making the decision to walk away can free up time and energy to spend on something you really enjoy. In fact, studies show that letting go of goals you can't reach, or don't really want, can build up your confidence and help you lead a happier and healthier life.

But how can you know it's time to stop and move on? Eric Bean is an expert in sports psychology (心理学) who helps athletes and teams understand their feelings. He says, "Quitting never a matter of black and white." He suggests thinking carefully about why you aren't enjoying something any more. Is it because you've argued with a teammate or can't get on with a new art teacher? Talk about this with a trusted adult or friend. That can help you decide whether you should stay and stick, or quit and move on.

Quitting doesn't have to mean totally giving up, though. For example, playing an instrument might be more fun if you take away the pressure of exams. If you do decide to give up an activity, Bean suggests picking up another where you can still enjoy things like teamwork, creativity, and exercise.

61. The writer mentions "Roger Federer" to show that _____.

A. we should never give up
