“All work should be admired.” my father always told me. He wasn't 41, but he made a reasonable living. Thanks to his effort, I was able to go to an art college. However I wanted to do something different, something more interesting. I was 42!

After graduation, I moved to New York to look for a designer (设计师) job. It was 43 and I only brought enough money to support myself for about a month. I wasn't 44 at all—I was sure I'd find a fantastic job at once.

Within a few weeks, though, I found I had been 45 by every design office in the town. The rent (租金) of my 46 was almost gone and I hadn't eaten for days. “How could I reach this point?” I wondered as I shook with cold in my thin jacket.

I was just about to give up 47 my dad called. He suggested that I get a job in a restaurant until something else came along. At first, I didn't 48 to his advice because of pride. But I was cold and hungry. I didn't want to go home feeling 49 and defeated (打败).

I entered an expensive-looking cafe near one of the design offices that had turned me away and asked the manager if they would need people to work there. She said they were shorthanded and 50 me a job right away.

____ 51 ____, I found that I really enjoyed serving people. I started making big ____ 52 ____ right away. Later, the manager learned that I had a design ____ 53 ____ and asked me to design the cafe menus. That led to a part-time job at an advertising company.

I had never considered being ____ 54 ____ before but there I was. I finally got my dream design job, but that winter I learned not to make ____ 55 ____ about work.

I sent a message to my sister at 12: 30 p. m. during my lunch to ask her about my father's progress. He was having his second knee surgery (手术) and my expectations were the same as the last successful surgery. My brother picked me up from school and we headed for the hospital.

★, my first question was “How is he doing?” “My father was connected to a breathing machine and his face was swollen (肿). I tried my best not to cry because I was supposed to explain to him what was happening as the nurses did not speak Spanish. I had never seen my father this way. He looked so weak and different from the strong man I knew. I asked him how he was feeling and he said he was fine. I returned to the hall and I realized that my hero, best friend, and loved one in life was in a dangerous state and at that point anything could happen.

I recalled what happened when I was a child. “I'm going to the store.” he always said. Of course that was my reason to follow him. We would walk to the car, and sometimes if I was lucky, I was able to sit in the front seat. We would arrive at the store and he always said, “Get whatever you want and something for Ana.” Ana is my sister. My dad and I were best friends. He never showed preference with his children, but I just always happened to follow him. It was okay for me to cry when I wanted something because I was his youngest girl and he couldn't say no to me.

My father spent his whole life giving us the best. Growing up does not necessarily mean that one must keep oneself away from his parents because it is childish. It is time to take action and value the feelings because it is the right thing to do. Life gives us chances to value what is the most important in life.

61. How was the writer's father when she saw him at the hospital?

- A. He was badly weak. B. He was not able to speak.
C. He was worried about his life. D. He was still healthy and strong.

62. How did the writer feel after knowing her father's situation?

- A. Safe. B. Hurt. C. Anxious. D. Relaxed.

63. Which of the following can be put in ★?

- A. When I was a child B. When I went to the store
C. When I arrived at the hospital D. When I returned back to my home

64. What can we learn about the writer's childhood?

- A. Her father likes her the tot
B. She was never refused by her father.
C. She didn't like her family and left very early.
D. She followed her father a lot when she was a child.

65. The passage mainly wants to tell us to _____.

- A. grow up independently B. value the most important in life
C. ask for everything we like D. care about our parents' health

C

Think about how many ways there are for you to communicate today. You can send a letter or pick up the phone and make a call. But today, one of the most popular ways to communicate is called instant messaging (即时信息) (IM). In any instant messaging system (系统), you type a little text message on your computer, press the "Send" button, and your message instantly shows up on your friend's screen. But how does it work?

Actually, the whole process is very cool. In the 1980s, you could sit down at a computer at any big university. Up to 100 people would be logged in (登录) and share the computer because the computers were very expensive at that time. You could type a command (指令) to send an instant message to anyone logged in the same computer. It felt like everyone was connected together no matter where they were sitting.

Today, you can communicate with anyone in the world. All you need is an instant messaging program installed (安装) on your computer. There are many programs to choose from. AOL's instant messenger is probably the most popular right now. MSN has one. Google has Google Talk.

When you're ready, you create an account (账户). Next, you need to find out the IM names your friends use. Add their IM names to your IM program. Click on the friend you want to talk to and then type away. When you click "Send", your friend gets the message instantly.

However, behind the scenes, amazing things are happening. Your IM program is communicating with a computer called a server. All your friends' computers are communicating with a server, too. Your computer is often chatting with it to make everything happen. The network called the Internet makes it all possible.

66. How did people get messages instantly in the 1980s?

- A. By sharing the same computer. B. By making a call.
C. By sending a letter. D. By visiting each other.

67. From the passage we can see that “AOL” is _____.

- A. an IM program B. a computer company
C. a famous website D. a kind of search engine

68. What do we know about the process of sending an IM?

- A. You should create an account first.
B. You can add your names to the program.
C. Your friend can get the message after you click “Send”.
D. You should type away the message before you click on your friend.

69. The underlined word “server” most probably refers to _____.

- A. a message B. the network C. the Internet D. a computer

70. The best title for the passage can be _____.

- A. Development of Communication B. Different Ways of Communication
C. How to Send Instant Messages D. The Easiest Way to Talk to a Friend

七、书面表达 (15 分)

A Helper of My Class

I am a good helper of my family. I often help hand out exam papers and clean the blackboard for my teachers whenever I am free. Sometimes my classmates meet some problems that they can't solve, I am always ready to help them out during the breaks between classes or in my spare time. "Helping others is helping ourselves." Certainly it is necessary for us to do something helpful for our class. It is not enough to just get good grades, but helping others is also important.

Let's take action now.

书面表达评分标准

一、评分原则

评分时，先根据短文的内容、语言和思维逻辑以及写作规范，初步判定其所属档次，然后根据该档次的具体要求来确定或调整档次，最后给分。这一原则也称之为整体评分或印象评分。

评分时，应关注的短文内容为：内容要点表达的清楚程度、完整性及准确性。

评分时，应关注的短文语言和思维逻辑为：运用词汇和语法结构的准确性及上下文语意的流畅性和完整性。

评分时，应关注的短文写作规范为：词数不少于 60 词，拼写和标点符号符合

写作规范（英、美拼写及词汇用法均视为符合要求），如书写较差，以致影响交际，建议将分数降低一个档次。

二、档次的判定

英语书面表达题的评判一般把学生写作的短文分为五个档次。

第五档次：（13~15 分）

短文能呈现所有内容要点，写出的句子语意表达清楚、逻辑合理且基本无错误。

第四档次：（10~12 分）

短文能呈现绝大部分内容要点，写出的句子语意表达清楚且无严重错误，逻辑比较合理，有少数单词拼写错误。

第三档次：（7~9 分）

短文能呈现大部分内容要点，写出的句子虽然有语法错误但能表达基本信息，逻辑基本合理，有较多的单词拼写错误。

第二档次：（4~6 分）

短文包含部分内容要点，写出的句子有较严重的语法错误，表达的意思也不清楚，有较多的单词拼写错误。

第一档次：（1~3 分）

短文包含少量内容要点，写出的句子有严重语法错误，基本不能表达语意，或只写出几个关键词。

注意：如表达出现以下情况：未能传递任何信息；内容太少，无法评判；所写内容均与题目要求内容无关或所写内容无法看清。建议判零分。
